ABSTRACT

This seasonal project integrates the skills of typing, photocopying, calculating, composing, alphabetizing, and human relations, which the student has acquired during the first part of the Administrative Support Occupations II course. The activity is a simulation that involves a small, specialty, mail-order business selling novelty items for holiday occasions. Students act as clerk-typists employed by this organization. Materials are provided for these problems: composition and typing of replies to all incoming correspondence (following instructions noted on the letter), including preparation of needed invoices, checks, and telegrams; completion of extensions on a stock record inventory form; ordering by letter of depleted stock; making of reservations; completion of a human relations problem; preparation and alphabetization of postal cards from a mailing list; and submission of all work. (YLB)

THE HOLIDAY SHOP

AN INTEGRATED PROJECT FOR ADMINISTRATIVE SUPPORT OCCUPATIONS II TO BE USED

THE WEEKS PRECEDING THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS

THE STORY

The Holiday Shop is a small, specialty, mail-order business selling novelty items for holiday occasions. It has no retail outlets, handling all sales through the mail.

You are one of five clerk typists employed by chis organization. Your officers include Charles B. St. Nick, President; Kris Krenkle, Vice President; Merry Noel, Secretary and Cashier.

THE PROBLEM...

Because of the rush associated with the approaching Christmas season, your employers do not have time to dictate replies to incoming mail. They read all correspondence and make notations at the bottom of each letter, giving the typist general instructions for answering. Following their directions, you are to complete this work in the sequence given below.

- 1. Compose and type replies to all incoming correspondence in order received. Follow directions as noted on each letter, preparing needed invoices, checks, and telegrams. Prepare one copy of each letter. The beginning bank balance is $2,500.
- 2. Complete extensions on stock record inventory form. Order by letter depleted stock.
- 3. Make reservations as directed by employer.
- 4. Complete the human relations problem.
- 5. Prepare postal cards from mailing list and put in alphabetical order.
- 6. Organize all work in order indicated and submit in a file folder to your instructor.

THE OBJECTIVES....

To integrate the skills of typing, photocopying, calculating, composing, alphabetizing, and human relations which the student has acquired during the first part of the course.

PERFORMANCE STANDARDS

- 1. Typing. Given nine letters, nine envelopes, plain paper, three invoices, three checks, two telegrams, and thirty-six postal cards, the student will type these materials in correct form. All typing errors will be neatly corrected.
- 2. Calculating Machines. Given three invoice problems containing errors in both extensions and discounts, the student will correct the errors and prepare new invoices. Given forty incomplete extensions on eight stock record inventory cards, the student will use the processes of addition, subtraction, and multiplication to complete this work.
- 3. Composition. Given nine situations involving correspondence to be answered, the student will compose appropriate replies. Grammar, punctuation, arl spelling will be correct.
- 4. Alphabetizing. Given thirty-six typewritten postal cards, the student will alphabetize.
- 5. Human Relations Problem. Given one human relations problem, the student will list the alternatives available and choose the one that is most appropriate, giving the reasons for the choice. As this problem involves personal opinion, there is no "correct" or "incorrect" response.

Gentlemen

A shipment of damaged Christmas three ornaments is being returned to you today by UPS.

The package I received yesterday was not insured; and I, therefore, have no other alternative but to return to you the damaged merchandise. I shall expect a prompt refund.

May I suggest that you improve your packing of such fragile ornaments in order to eliminate such occurrences in the future.

Yours truly

Bernard F. Austin

Write a letter of apology. Enclose a. Check in the amount of $10.43 which covers the purchase price and postage.

Gentlemen

criptal Today I received the important (chrystal) candelabra that I ordered from your company sometime ago. I was very distressed to find that it had been badly damaged in transit. I cannot accept this merchandise in this condition; therefore, I am returning it to you.

Since I need this particular candelabra to complete a pair I would like to reorder. Would you please send it special delivery and special handling.

Sincerely

Florence Holly

Write a letter to Ms. Holly with regrets for the Condition the Candlelabra arrivel in and till her we are reshipping the order immediately.

Also write the Statewide chrowing Co. in Snowflake Faels and report the broken Cardlelabra, establishing our Claim for this $275 loss.

Gentlemen

Thank you for the prompt shipment of merchandise I ordered recently.

If you will check invoice No. 437, however, you will note that the following items were incorrectly figured:

1) 25 stockings @ $4.98 **@

2) 50 cases of Christmas balls @ $5.98 a case

3) 40 sets of indoor-outdoor lights @ $9.98

Please send a corrected invoice so that payment may be made immediately.

Yours truly

Sam E. Midgett, Sr.

Check extensions carefully: White Mr. Midgett enclosing the correct invoice.

The Holiday Shop 25 Mistletoe Lane Snowflake, MN 55804

Gentlemen

The invoice you sent me is incorrect. I ordered the #6328J Santa Claus suit with white rabbit fur on the cap. This was listed in your catalog for $35.50 plus a four percent discount if paid within ten days. Why are you charging me $45.50 and no discount is allowed?

Please send corrected invoice, showing proper amount of discount, so I can pay my bill before Christmas.

Sincerely yours

George Gorge

Dell customer we were out of #6328J, so Sent better quality merchandise. However, intended to charge only #35.50 less 4% discount. Write letter of ex planation and enclose invoice showing discount.

Dear Mr. St. Nick

On December 1, I ordered a Japanese Christmas bell, No. B33-6890, listed in your catalogue for $7.95. The bell has arrived, but you have charged the incorrect price of $9.95.

I also thought that if I paid cash I would be allowed a discount.

Will you please send a corrected invoice and inform me about the discount and I will then send you my check in the full amount.

Sincerely

Harry Redd

Send corrected invoice and write a letter of apology to Mr. Redd for quoting the incorrect price. Sene him the fuel 5% discount.

Gentlemen

Recently I ordered from your Company 12 large Christmas candles and holders in kelly green, No. B36, HA 5293, at $3.25 each. When they arrived, they were mint green instead of kelly green. I cannot use these candles because they do not go with the color scheme I am using for an office Christmas party I am giving.

I have no alternative other than to return them to you and ask for a refund for $39.00.

Sincerely

Betsy Green

Write Mrs. Seen. We are happy to refund her purchase price. Check the extension and write the check.

Ladies and Gentlemen

Three weeks ago I received a copy of vour bill of lading NUMBER A76498 dated November 20, 19--. This covered a shipment of 20 dr en outdoor tree lights to be used in lighting our municipal Christmas tree. These lights were packed in four cartons, and shipped via Northwest Freight Lines to Chicago, then transferred to Homeland Express Company for delivery to us here in Smalltown. We must have these lights immediately, and feel they are lost in transit. All the folks in Smalltown will be very disappointed if the lights for their tree fail to arrive for the tree lighting ceremony this weekend.

I will expect to hear from you by return mail.

Sincerely

John J. Jones, Mayor

A PROBLEM IN HUMAN RELATIONS

OCCURS IN THE OFFICE

The last day before the holiday arrives, Mr. St. Nick comes into your department to extend the season's greetings to each employee and to personally distribute Christmas bonus checks. After he leaves, the five clerk typists eagerly open their envelopes to see the amount of their gift. You overhear two girs discussing the amount of their bonus, and you realize that one girl (who was employed the same day you were) has received $100 more than you received! You feel that you have worked hard all year, and you cannot understand why your co-worker's bonus is so much more than yours. What should you do?

In the space provided, briefly discuss the good and/or bad points of each of the alternatives presented.

are suppose to be confidential and they should not have been discussing theirs with each other.
Go talk with your co-worker nicely to see if she knows why he check would be for a larger amount than yours.
Go talk with the cashier to see if a possible mistake was mad in issuing the check and the amounts should have been the sam
Go talk with Mr. St. Nick to see if your work has been satis- factory, and if so, ask him why your check was lower than that of your co-worker.
Say nothing to anyone, and go home determined to work harder next year and hope you will get more money.
